Kathryn M. Kase installed on board of directors of nation's top criminal defense organization

Washington D.C. — At the annual meeting of the National Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers last week in Denver, Kathryn M. Kase, a criminal defense attorney in Houston, was sworn in to her second term as a member of the NACDL board of directors.

A life member of the organization, Kase also serves as the vice chair of the NACDL Indigent Defense Committee. She is a past president of the New York State Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers, and the New York Bar Association named her Outstanding Practitioner in the criminal justice section in 2002. Kase is certified as a capital defense counsel in New York.

Kase holds degrees from the University of Kansas and St. Mary's University School of Law. She currently works at the Texas Defender Service in Houston.
