Barry J. Pollack joins board of directors of nation's top criminal defense organization

Washington D.C. — Barry J. Pollack, a defense attorney in Washington, D.C., was installed on the board of directors of the National Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers at the organization's annual meeting last week in Denver.

Pollack serves on the board of directors of the Washington Council of Lawyers and on the Lawyers Committee of the Innocence Project of the National Capital Region. He has made numerous appearances on CNN and Fox News as a legal commentator. In addition, he has been appointed to the Criminal Justice Act Panel for the United States District Court for the District of Maryland.

Pollack graduated from Indiana University and Georgetown University Law Center. He previously held the position of assistant federal public defender in Baltimore. Since 2001, he has worked as a partner at the firm Nixon Peabody, LLP.
