

Public Defense Training Scholarship Application Information

Scholarship Details

As a result of generous grant funding, NACDL is able to offer scholarship assistance to public defense providers to attend an NACDL training program of their choice. Scholarships will be awarded in the form of full or partial reimbursement of the registration costs of the program. Limited travel reimbursement stipends may also be awarded to qualifying individuals to help defray the costs of travel and lodging.

Do You Qualify for a Scholarship?

Only attorneys who engage in criminal public defense work are eligible to apply. Demonstrated financial need is required to qualify for registration and/or travel assistance. Scholarships are available for full time public defenders, contract counsel, and private appointed counsel. Membership in NACDL is not required to receive scholarship assistance under the public defense training scholarship. Scholarship recipients are expected to complete a pre- and post-training survey for the training program that they attend. Preference will be given to individuals with a high ratio of appointed to retained work, and those willing and able to pass on what they have learned to other public defense providers in their community.

Application Deadlines

Scholarship applications are reviewed on a rolling basis, with review of applications for a particular program beginning approximately three months prior to the start date of the program. Applicants who are seeking travel assistance should submit their applications at least six weeks prior to the start date of a program for the best chance of receiving travel awards. Applications received less than three weeks prior to the program date will not be considered.

Evaluation of Applications

Each application for scholarship is evaluated individually based on the answers provided to the questions in the application. Multiple applications from one office should be completed and submitted by each attorney individually, providing personal responses to each of the questions asked.

Submission of Applications

Completed scholarship applications can be submitted via email (preferred) or fax. Emailed application should be sent to DPrice@nacdl.org with Scholarship Application in the subject line. Faxed applications should be sent to (202) 872-8690 and directed to Diane Price.
